After Four Years of Discouraging
Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave
Up in Despair. Husband
Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

VARIETIES OF CREEKS.

To Get an Idea of Their Range Just Study California Names.

The "Gazetteer of the Surface Waters of California," prepared by the United States geological survey, shows many curious similarities in nomenclature, common and favorite names having been given to different streams and lakes by the early settlers, who christened most of the natural features in new countries.

Such characteristic pioneer names as Deadman creek and Deadman Canyon creek are applied to five different streams: In the area covered by the report there are ten Dry creeks, two Humbug creeks, two Jackass creeks, five Lion and Lion Canyon creeks, five "Lost" streams and two Mad rivers. Bear, Bear Canyon and Bear Trap are applied to thirty-six different water bodies, and there are five Grizzly creeks.

There are fifteen Coyote water bodies, two Wildcat, one Cat and two Gatos (Cat, Spanish) creeks; one Skunk creek, nine Deer creeks, one Rabbit, two Quail, two Dog and one Scorpion creek.

There are also ten Devil and two Diablo creeks, but the saints, male and female (San and Santa), cover a dozen pages of the gazetteer. There is also a Poison creek, with a dozen Snake and Rattlesnake creeks. The fish are represented in a page full of Eel rivers, several Fish creeks and one Sardine creek.

OUR INSECT ENEMIES.

Whole Nations Have Been Weakened by These Perilous Foes.

Our instinct to kill insects is perfectly sound. Out of the 250,000 species now known to science a mere handful are even remotely helpful to man, and most of these only by their power of living upon other and more dangerous insects. On the other hand, thousands of species are actively hostile to man, to his food plants and to his domestic animals.

Whole tribes have been swept out of existence by the attack of insects carrying bacilli—as within the last two decades in central Africa, by the dread "sleeping sickness" carried by the tsetse fly. Whole nations have been weakened and crippled and whole civilizations retarded by another insect borne disease, malaria.

Indeed, recent investigators have advanced the theory that the historic decline of both Greece and Rome was largely due to the ravages of this disease, brought into Europe by armies returning from wars in Asia and Africa. It may yet come, when we see things in their true perspective, that the warriors of civilized nations will turn from slaughtering one another to battling against our insect enemies.—Dr. Woods Hutchinson in "Common Diseases."

Getting Up Speed.

"Well, George," said a Georgia man not long ago to an old negro in his employ, "I understand that you intend to give your son an education."

"Dat's my intention, sah," responded George. "I knows myself what 'tis to struggle along widout learnin', an' I has determined my son ain't goin' to have no sich trouble as I's had."

"Is your son learning rapidly?" "He shore is, sah. Las' week he done wrote a letthal to his aunt what lives more'n twenty miles from yere, an' aft'while he's goin' to write to his aunt dat lives 'bout fifty miles from yere."

"Why doesn't he write to that aunt now?" suddenly asked the employer.

"He kain't write so fur yit, sah. He kin write twenty miles fast rate, but I tole him not to try fifty miles till he gets strength wif his pen." Chicago Record Herald

MORE BEAUTIFUL

To give your hair that gloss and lustre and wavy silky-softness, use Harmony Hair Beautifier. It takes away the dull dead look of the hair, and makes it bright—turns the stringiness into fluffiness—overcomes the oily odors and leaves a sweet, true-rose fragrance—makes the hair easier to put up neatly and easier to keep in place. It is just exactly what it is named—a hair beautifier, and whether your hair is ugly now or beautiful, it will improve its appearance. You'll be proud of and delighted with the results, or your money back. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. NAPOLEON'S BAD OMEN.

He Was Superstitious, and His Presentiment Came True.

Napoleon the Great was exceedingly superstitious. The following is told as one of the illustrations of this:

When Napoleon, in the spring of 1799, was lying before Acre he was anxious for news from upper Egypt, whither he had dispatched Dessaix in pursuit of a distinguished Mameluke leader. Not many days after a courier arrived with favorable dispatches, favorable in the main, but reporting one tragical occurrence on a small scale that to Napoleon outweighed the public prosperity.

The commander as a brave man felt that any fate that awaited him would be better than to fall into the hands of the enemy. He set fire to the powder magazine. The vessel blew up and the crew perished.

For all this Napoleon cared little, but one solitary fact that was in the report which struck him with secret alarm—this ill fated boat was called L'Italie, and in the name of the vessel Napoleon read an augury or the fate which had befallen the Italian territory. He felt certain that Italy was lost, and Napoleon was inconsolable.

But what possible connection, it was asked, can exist between this vessel on the Nile and a remote peninsula of southern Europe? "No matter," replied Napoleon, "my presentiments never deceive me. You will see that all is ruined. I am satisfied that my Italy, my conquest, is lost to France." So, indeed, it was.—New York Press.

CHAMPION LAZY PEOPLE.

Kongo Gluttons Who Do Little Else Than Sleep and Eat.

According to M. Friedmann, a German traveler and historian recently returned from the Kongo, there is a tribe of natives down in one of the interior parts of that region actually so stuffed all of the time with food, three or four times as much as they have any need of, that they are continually in a dull and almost unintelligent stupor.

They do little besides sleep and eat. They are too lazy to do any individual hunting, and it is the disliked and unpopular member of the family that is forced to do the food providing for the relatives. The women are quite as lazy as the men and work only when it is absolutely necessary to eat.

The only time when the natives rouse themselves is at marriage or at death. Both of these occasions are celebrated by eating more than on ordinary occasions even, and the after-effects of both events are often disastrous, as one or two of the party are sure to eat so much as to be seriously and often fatally sick, which only means another celebration of a different kind.

The few missionaries who have penetrated the interior sufficiently far to meet with these tribes own to their being practically hopeless as far as any regenerating is concerned. They seem to have been stupefied through the centuries and to have become utterly degenerate and useless members of society.—Chicago Tribune.

A Single Line Poet.

Every man has the streak of poetry in him, and probably every man could write one line of poetry out of his life, as any man has one novel in himself. But we were talking at large the other day, and a man quoted the line, "A rose red city half as old as time." And then came the question, Who wrote that line that everybody knows? One man said it referred to Damascus. But no one knew who wrote it.

There are single line poets as there are "Single Speech" Hamiltons, and here is perhaps the only instance in which the Newdigate prize poem at Oxford has produced a living line, for the author was the Rev. J. W. Burgon, who won the prize in 1845 and doubtless recited portions of his poem in the Sheldonian theater. But that allusion to Petra, the Arabian rock city, has lived.—London Chronicle.

CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Laurens Readers.

For months Laurens citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Laurens residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Laurens reader.

W. H. Franks, 605 Chestnut St., Laurens, S. C., says: "I am pleased to confirm the statement I gave some years ago recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. I got this remedy at the Palmetto Drug Co., and it permanently cured me of kidney trouble."

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years." It will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

In fact, we are so sure of what D.D.D. will do for you that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on our guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find that it does the work.
